

We are committed to protecting the privacy of all personal information obtained from you during any visits to the aluxayachts.com website. This Privacy Policy sets out the basis on which any personal data we collect from you, or that you choose to provide to us in connection with the aluxayachts.com website will be processed.

No data transmission over the internet can be guaranteed as totally secure. While we strive to protect such information, we do not warrant and cannot ensure the security of any information which you transmit to us. Accordingly, such transmission is at your own risk. We will not be liable for any damages or loss arising out of or resulting from any unauthorized access to, alteration to or modification of information contained on this website.

We make every effort to check and test our website during production. You must take your own precautions to ensure that the process which you employ for accessing this website does not expose you to risk of viruses, malicious computer code or other forms of interference which may damage your computer system.

We accept no liability for any loss, disruption or damage to your computer system or your data caused by using this website or arising as a result of having used the website.

Technical information

We collect your Internet Protocol (IP) address and details of which type of web browser you used.

Information about your visit to this website

We collect data about your visit to the website. This information does not identify you personally. This data includes:

The pages you visited, when (date and time) you visited them and how long you visited them for;

The website address from which you accessed this site;

The website address from which you exited this site;

Queries via the site's search engine;

Internet browser and devices used.

We collect information on how you use the site, through COOKIES.